VAILS LIFTED. It was hard to disconnect that hateful usiness in which Mr. Cambol had acused Alick of being engaged and proike debasing nature. But I had never to be a hater of ardent spirits; his tastes were refined; he had a quick sense of honor; how, then, could he be companion in evil with such a man as Cris Cambol? But on the other hand came the rememrance of the pain he had given our parents by such associations, and even the encouraging words written when he was soldier, that he had ceased to have anything to do with his old tempter, were said. So also was the story Jerry had told: the mantle of secrecy was over Alick's movements and now Mrs. Beach, who knew everybody's affairs, believed him guilty. It was impossible longer to keep the old promise of perfect trust, however painful it was to doubt. These were sober thoughts that came when the excitements of that cruel night had sub-

Mrs. Beach had hinted that I could do omething to save my brother. Someining is a hard word to understand, ecret to be terreted out, a treasure to earch for : in this case it was a key to open the gate of heaven. What if it should never be found? I could pray, but Alick had been prayed for all his life with better prayers than my lips could utter, and praying did not seem doing. I could talk with!him, but what words of mine could avail to lift him up when the instructions and daily living of ather and mother, and all the sweet influences of our home had failed to keep him upright. If he had thus gone wrong was no fault of theirs. But that I was plameless could not be so readily asserted, for I remembered with shame and agony that he had once rightfully accused me of mercenary motives in the most sacred of relations, and claimed therefore that he was equal and even superior to me in point of rectitude. That I had repented was as nothing, for no sin of ours vaits to see whether we will repent behurts and curses all the same whatever failed in sisterly duty and helped him on n the wrong way, there was the greater call for putting forth all my strength to bring him again into the right way— on drove to the door at which we had there was nothing I would not do to save him. Even death would be welcome were such a sacrifice required, and I prayed to e shown some great self-renunciation whereby to prove my love and win him back to truth. When that should be rerealed I could sing again, but without it were useless, wicked to attempt to be appy. After all I did not see how nuch pride had to do with this-that the sin itself was not so much hated as the disgrace it was to bring, and the pain t would give my parents and Gracie. While the question as to the best course to be pursued remained unanswer ed Mrs. Beach washed the quilt and suc-

plant lice, who, like the poor, are ever with us. In England, the article mostly in favor at present among florists seems to be what is known as "Gishurst's Compound." Here, we have not much beyond the tobacco smoke remedy. To make this effectual the plants should be kept an hour or more in a concentrated smoke, obtained by burning tobacco on redhot coals. Failure usually proceeds from too brief immersion in the smoke. In airtight greenhouses, it is practicable to fill an entire room with the smoke, and leave the plants in it all night. A similar result can be effected in a small way in a barrel. An ingenious friend, an amateur "rosarian," covers each of his roses successively with a sort of paper balloon, which is so constructed as to be capable of more or less expansion, according to the size of the plant, and contains a tin cup, in which he puts hot coals and tobacco. There are people who meet with success in applying certain powders to the aphis; but the majority of experimenters find difficulty in keeping him long enough under the influence of the application, to say nothing of the trouble of washing the powder off the foliage afterward. The "Persian insect powder," carbolate of lime, and some of the stronger snuffs, have, however, their advocates, who blow them at the aphides with bellows. Washing with strong soapsuds is a good practice, with plants as well as with people, and tolercase, whale oil soap has a high repute Suds can be applied, of course, with a syringe; for that matter a baby might be washed in that way, but it would not be the most advisable method; the better way is, to plunge the thing to be washed into the suds; but in the case of plants, there is this difference—they do better if put in head foremost, and a piece of paper should be tied over the earth of each pot, to keep it from falling out while the plant is soaking. Most people know enough to cut a hole in the paper for the stalk to pass through. Various soaps and solutions are sold for this purpose, containing different proportions of carbolic and cresylic acids, some being so effectual that vegetable as well as animal life succumbs to their influence; and folks who love their plants, as a rule, prefer to try chemical experiments of this kind upon the plants of other peo-

There is a remedy for the aphis not freely advertised in the newspapers, nor highly recommended in horticultural books, which is not open to certain objections that apply to all the foregoing. It consists in using the eyes sharply and the thumb and forefinger dexterously. On the first trials, especially if plants have been much neglected, this process will seem very much like work, and it, may be necessary to hold the left hand. so as to catch the insects while stripping them from the foliage with the right After being once thoroughly cleaned, the plants can be kept in in order if a few minutes are thus employed every day. Within a week the morning's review "I should like to sit in a chair," he said should not discover a half dozen insects, even of the smallest kind. But it will not do to skip a day or two and give a new colony a chance to breed. Oc-casionally a knowing old aphis fixes himself in the axil of the leaf or the fold of a bud, where, to get at him, it is necessary to wet the end of a match, the point of a pencil, or even the head of a pin, and touch his back gently with it; you will find him adhering when the insrument is withdrawn. Is it quite certain that it would take too much time to clean your plants with thumb and finger? Then, depend upon it, you are trying to keep too many. As with family "olive branches," so with house

DR. SACE'S CATARRH REMEDY.

It is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcors frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. The want of success in treating catarrh heretofore has arisen largely from the impossibility of applying remedies to these cavities and chambers by any of the ordinary methods. This obstacle in the way of effecting curos is entirely overcome by the invention of the Douche. In using this instrument, the Fluid is carried by its own weight (no snuffing forcing or pumplag being required,) up one nostril in a full gently flowing stream to the highest portion of the nasal passages, passes into and thoroughly cleanses all the tubes and chambers connected therewith, and flows out of the opposite nostril. Its uses is pleasant and so simple that a child could understand it. Full and explicit directions accompany each instrument. When used with this instrument. ..... Decoration Day in Mexico.

For the public decoration of the graves of dead soldiers the weather of Friday was in every way propitious. The dust had been laid by rain the preceding night, the low temperature was favorable for marching, while the sunbeams fell deliciously warm and bright upon the multitude gathered to witness and assist in the ceremonies.

The procession headed by Major Hall, Marshal of the day, and consisting of hands, veteran smilitary companies, flower wagon, &c., formed on Church St., and marched in the middle of the street, while the walks on either side were lined with people going in the same direction and on the same errand of gratitude.

After marching to the sound of martial music among the graves of our beautiful cemetery and depositing floral offerings on the mounds under which they sleep whose devotion and sacrifice the day was set apart to commemorate, the people gathered on the west side of the grounds and sitting, or standing on the sunny slope, listened to the address and other exercises. The order was as follows: _lst, Singing ; 2d, Prayer by Rev. Geo. a portion of the 15th chapter of 1st Corinthians by Rev. Mr. Hewitt; 5th, Singing; 6th, Address by the Hon. W. H Kenyon, of Oswego.

Mr. Kenyon said his theme was one that had called forth the eloquence of all times: war was common, and danger to country had never failed to awaken the energies of the patriot. The growth of nations the good of society had been promoted by war; therein Greek democracy had its origin. He reviewed briefly the history of the United States-in the rebellion republicanism proved itself stronger than monarchy; our army demonstrated the truth that love of liberty is mightier than love of conquest. Vividly the speaker nortrayed the life of the soldier, his privations and sufferings. Not only did the volunteer have much to enduredeath came also—the track of our army was strewn with the bodies of half a million slain. The evil man leaves no monument, he who devotes himself to the good of others has the thought that though his body perish he will still live on earth in what he has done. Did the young soldier, lying down to die so early for his country, fail? No; his death was a glorious consummation of his work. The lives of such were infused into the republic, and in it they still exist. Mr. Kenyon spoke with distinctness and energy; his voice and manner were close G. G. French, Esq., moved a vote of rights of the lessee or tenant under any thanks, and that we are proud to claim the speaker as one of our own town which. vote was carried by a hearty "aye." Mr. Kenyon is a native of Mexico.

was a student in our Academy, went to the army where he faithfully served, as he office of G. G. French, Esq., and has ed does not exceed $200, risen to his present position over difficulties that to many would have seemed in surmountable. Of unimpeachable integ rity, unwearying perseverance and talents. of a high order, we look for him to accomplish much in the future.

Singing followed the address, and of this we ought especially to speak. The choir was entirely of male voices, and consisted of Mr. Miller, Dr. Becker, Messrs. S. Orvis, J. C. Taylor, Geo Stone Hunt and Willie Ballou. The pieces, sad, patriotic, beautifully appropriate, were distinctly and finely rendered, so that we think few could have failed to hear and enjoy them while, the sound of the organ on which Miss Ella Miller played the accompaniments was so faint as scarcely to be perceived, the instrument being too light for the open air. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. L. Muzzy. The band discoursed sweet music, the procession reformed and the multitude of people went back to their homes we trust fallen saviors renewed god with their patriotism revived, their mem-

LADIES' SUMMER HATS .- It may be interesting to the ladies to know that Palmetto hats will be worn in midsummer both in town and country. They imitate the old-fashioned calash in shape, also the Dolly Varden of last year, and the tiptilted Lynette. These southern hats are appropriately · trimmed with brown grasses, and the sugar cane feather clus tered in amid knots and loops of soft mouseline ribbon.

As the sun was beautifully setting in the west on Decoration day, almost this entire community, with a goodly number from Prattville, gathered at our Cemetery to pay their grateful tribute of Hospital College. He immediately enrespect, love and affection to our soldier dead. The order of exercises, though not imposing, was interesting.

The committee of young ladies, accompanied by the clergy and a number of citizens, distributed bouquets and wreaths the fullest sense a self-made man, and of flowers. After singing "America" by the choir, an address was delivered by Rev. Mr. Pane, of Prattville, which was very appropriate and interesting. He briefly alluded to the American Revolution, to George Washington as the man sent by God to lead the people to freedom and victory; to slavery as the cause of the war of the Rebellion and to Abraham Lincoln as the man from the same kind Providence to give free Union army. And touchingly did the Rev. gentleman speak of the great sacrifices of our brave boys in blue by leaving home and its comforts to share the toils and dangers of the battle field, and over their graves the beautiful flowersemblems of our love and affection.

After prayer, the exercises were closed by singing "When shall we meet again." ASSEMBLYMAN BULKLEY.—The Sandy Creek News prints this complimentary notice of J. Lyman Bulkley, Member of Assembly from this district, from a volume of "Life sketches of the Executive Officers and Assemblymen of the State of New York :

"Justus Lyman Bulkley, for fifteen years a successful physician and surgeon of Sandy Creek, Oswego county, was born in Fairfield, Herkimer county, August 20, 1832. His father, Peter H. Bulkley, born in the year 1800, and a native of this State, died when young Bulkley was but eleven years old, leaving his son little besides an inheritance of poverty. Compelled thus early to fight his way in the world, he did not shrink from the contest, but proceeded under the counsel of his worthy mother, who is still living, to secure an education. Although for a number of years he was compelled to work in the capacity of a farm laborer, he eventually succeed ed in his object. He studied the English branches in an academy, and when he was able to do so, entered college. He passed through Madison University, graduating in 1857, with an honorary degree, and afterward graduated with all the honors from the New York Opthalmic tered upon the practice of his chosen profession, and has pursued it with such success that he now enjoys a reputation second to none in the county. It will be seen, therefore, that Dr. Bulkley is in individual exertions."

The duty of every man is to subscribe for his local newspaper, no matter what other papers he may take. In his city weekly he can get all the news of the world, elaborate editorials, essays, stories, general interest; but he cannot had there the news which he prizes most of all, and which he can find in his local paper, and that is the news of his neighors. The local paper tells him that neighbor Higgins has bought a new how appropriate it was for us to strew farm; that neighbor Thompson has sold two extra heavy hogs at an unusual price; that a new school-house is to be be a new minister at the old white church.

No man should take a city paper in preference to his local paper. If he is too poor to take more than one, let that one by all means be the one published nearest his home. A man may possibly endure without knowing all there is going on in Spain or South America, but he would be a poor ignoramus without a knowledge of his own town and neighborhood. Take your local paper, and do all in your power to make it a credit and

Among the speakers at the Caliornia Sunday-school Convention, recently held in San Francisco, was Rev. F. F. Jewell, who is well known in this county. We learn from the Sundayschool Times that he spoke of "The Teachers' Work," "dividing Sundayschool work into two departments, viz., work out of school and work in school, laying much stress upon the former. To study the individual peculiarity and surroundings of each pupil, thus unraveling the nature and acquainting the teacher with the mental and moral idiosyncrasies of every member of his class, is a grand prerequsite to success. A religious teacher must not be a mere entertainer, but a godly enthusiast. His inspiration must come from on high."

That Favorite Home Remedy, PAIN-KILLER

Has been before the public over THIRTY YEARS, and probably has a wider and better reputation han any other proprietary medicine of the present day. At this period there are but few unacmainted with the merits of the PAIN-KILLER : out, while some extol it as a liniment they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally; while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally, We therefore wish to say to all, that it is equally accessful, whether used internally or externally It is sufficient evidence of its virtues as a standard medicine to know that it is now used in all parts of the world, and that its sale is constant ly increasing. No curative agent has had such a wide spread sale or given such universal satis-

DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER is a purely vegetable compound, prepared from the best and purest materials, and with a care that insures the most perfect uniformity in the medicine; and while it is a most effective remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in the most unskil ful hands.

It is eminently a FAMILY MEDICINE; and by being kept ready for immediate resort, will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctor's bills.

After over thirty years trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and esponsibility. Eminent Physicians commend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery, or Cholera, or any sort of bowel omplaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for effiiency, and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has ecome the standard medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and all other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony to be an in-

The Report of the New York Insti tution for the Deaf and Dumb is out. This is its fifty-fourth Annual. The number of pupils for the year has been five hundred, more or less, generally more. These have been under the care of a corps of thirty teaches, of whom eighteen are deaf-mutes, and all but two or three are graduates of the institution. The receipts for the year ending Sept. 30th, 1872, were $173,963.24, and the expenditures $168,622.64. Repairs to the extent of $23,000 have been made to the buildings and grounds, and the whole structure is in a state of comfortable repair. The report of the principal is an able document and very readable in every way. Unlike most reports, it does not confine itself strictly to the affairs of the institution, though these are treated to their fullest extent; it commands a wider scope and takes a kind and laudable in terest in the affairs of the deaf and dumb that are outside the bounds of the insti-

Speaking of the Home for aged and infirm deaf-mutes, the principal says "One of its objects is to furnish opportunities for religious worship in the sign language, at stated intervals, to educated deaf-mutes in different parts of the country; another, to solicit for them situations in which they can make themselves useful and independent when circumstances make it difficult for them to meet with success in this direction by their own unaided efforts; and a third, to establish a home wherein can be received and surrounded with comforts and consolations those friendless ones among them who, by reason of age or other infirmity, are unable to secure support outside of the alms-house. Of the ecclesiastical features of the mission it does not become me to speak, as this institution is not identified with any special denomination of Christians, seeking rather to furnish the basis of character and knowledge which will fit its pupils to be received into any one of the mansions of the Redeemer's kingdom which their domestic relations may render most desirable for them; but I am thoroughly in sympathy with the practical features of the scheme, and would be peak for it the active co-operation of the benevolent of all shades of religious belief. This is the part of the work in behalf of deafmutes which has hitherto been unorganized. The State undertakes their preparation for usefulness by providing them tending aid to the poor and needy among them when all other resources fail. The mates who, but for the help thus afforded, would be left in isolation and wretchedness to the pauper's fate, without any of the alleviations which come from the possession of hearing and speech."

In speaking of the teacher of the deaf and dumb, the Report says : "Wellnigh everything depends on him. His pupils look to him for specific instruction in every matter. The thousand questions on every conceivable topic, which a hearing child distributes among its parents and older friends, are concentrated upon him. He is their confidant and counselor in all their perplexities. His words have often more weight than those of any other person. His habits, and even his slightest mannerisms, are, by daily notice, unconsciously impressed on his pupils. Their hearts lie open before him. Their minds are plastic in his hands. High and varied qualifications are thus demanded in the teacher. Thorough conscientiousness and a genuine missionary spirit should actuate and sustain him. The special difficulties of his work, for which no text-book, however minute, can fully provide, require unwearied patience, and an intellect given to analysis, fertile in invention and apt in application. Properly to impart and enforce his instructions, he needs a physical constitution adequate to the exhausting strain of keeping his class steadily employed and interested. Their moral guide, he should himself live up to a high standard of morality. A principal is daily impressed with his own need of these qualities; his great care is to seek for them in his asso-Articulation, the Report holds, is not a system of instruction. "Articulation is simply a means of expression. * * * Articulation is making signs with the lips and other vocal organs; and reading the lips is, with him (the mute), nothing more than attaching a meaning to visible signs. The theory that speech gives rise to ideas, in the mind of a deaf-mute. different from those produced by writing or the manual alphabet, is an old heresy; but, like all heresies, it has resulted in some good. It has been shown that it is possible to make some deaf-mutes speak or read on the lips; and this is a valuable acquisition when its attainment does not consume too much time which might profitably be otherwise employed.'

Letter from New York.

NEW YORK, May 21, 1873. DEAR JOURNAL :- On Sunday, the 18th, Dr. Peet preached a highly interesting sermon in the chapel of our Institution. In my limited space I cannot be expected to give more than the substance of his sermon.

He first read the hymn beginning with

"How sweet, how heavenly is the sight," which the five hundred pupils repeated in concert, and it was indeed a beautiful sight to see them repeat it in graceful

Humility, however, exalts others, and leads us to think of others as we would doof ourselves; by the practice of civility. The Bible tells us to honor all men. Civility makes others happy, but rudeness often causes deep pain; by the exercise of forgiveness when we have been injured, and of good temper when others provoke us; by forbearance and kindness towards others at all times; and by

The pupils are all looking forward to the time when school will close and they can go home to their parents and friends—a very natural feeling, I must say.

How Deaf-Mutes Should Spend the Sabbath.

It is an undisputed fact, that nearly all the young men who began life with fair prospects of success, but who finally vent to the bad, began their downward career by not "remembering the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

On the last Sabbath of the term of chool in the New York Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, when vacation was close at hand, and when many of the pupils were to leave their Alma Mater to return no more as pupils, and when the rest were about to return to their respective homes to pass the vacation, Dr. H. P. Peet used particularly to dwell upon the subject of how the pupils should spend their Sabbaths. In clear, forcible and eloquent signs, made all the more impressive by his commanding figure, he would point out to his pupils the dire consequences of disregarding the Sabbath day. In his printed letter of advice to his pupils, he devotes a considerable portion of it to this subject. He seemed to think that if the deaf-mutes would spend their day of rest in a proper manner, they could not become bad, at least, their chances of being led astray would be very much diminished.

Deaf-mutes generally give as an excuse for not going to church that they cannot hear the preacher. If this must be accepted as an excuse for not attending church, it is certainly no excuse to go roaming about all over the neighborhood. It is advisable, under all circumstances, with education, thus assuring her own security by converting a class of ignor-larly attend church on the Sabbath, but ant and irresponsible human beings into if the deaf-mute does not choose to do intelligent, law-abiding citizens; the that, and there is nothing to compel him Church takes them by the hand as it to do it, there certainly is nothing to does others, and Christian benevolence supplements the work of both by exfill up his leisure time by reading some good book. On Saturday evening last a deaf-mute Sociable Surprise Party, as a compliment to Mrs. Elizabeth A. Burgess, took place at her residence, No. 25 Bedford St., N. Y. Through the exertion of the managers, Robert M. Patterson, Sylvanus Smith, and John E. Lyng, of this city, our lady friend Burgess was agreeably presented with a handsome testimonial in the shape of 6 walnut chairs and a costly extension table. H. J. Juhring took the place of S. Smith, who wished to be excused, as his time, under any circumstance, could not be spared. Juhring's service in the collection of the money for the S. S. Party was well done. The exercise was opened by Mr. Lyng dwelling on the benevolence of Mrs. Burgess, and affirming that the gifts were well merited. John Witschief ably seconded this speech by a few timely remarks. Rev. Dr. Gallaudet congratulated her, and pronounced the affair a success. His nteresting and instructive hints on Friendship and the Christian maxim to nate children were receiving from this welcome an enemy to the table, were institution. It is really a great success.

Then a bountiful collation was served, and many thanks were due to the ladies, Burgess, Barton and Smith, for the excellent attention to the guests at the table, and Mr. G. Dalhagen, of Patterson City, N. J., did the ladies great and good service. Some of the guests left, well satisfied, before the hour of the Sabbath, and the rest made themselves merry as a wedding bell.

The managers are congratulated on he well-merited success of the Surprise. Before the next issue of your Journal, t the same place, there will be an exceedingly entertaining occasion, as we know by a peep behind the curtain; but I won't be baptised as a "Paul Pry," and hope that you will hear from

A Deaf and Dumb Republic.

Twenty-five years ago the deaf and lumb of America, and those interested in their welfare, were discussing a scheme for the establishment of a separate community of deaf-mutes. The chief promoter of the project, himself deaf, proposed to select "a forty-miles square territory," to which all the deaf and haps ten years of age, and asked him all parts of the civilized world, might

Where can I find the Ten Command- go, that a deaf-mute commonwealth might be founded. He aimed at a po for the benefit of an unfortunate, downtrodden class, which he considered down lecting for his subject the thirty-ninth trodden, because "the human soul is de would make a home for the mutes, for mutual intercourse and improvement; and to "show the world our abilities which may induce governments and opulence to employ our brother mutes in many posts for a living." Some of his brother mutes ridiculed his scheme as visionary and impracticable, others approved of it with modifications. Some editorial remarks on the project in the publication in which it was given to the world are as follows: "As for discussing his views, then, with the idea of carrying them out into reality, we might as well deliberate and I think I have said enough to give an idea of it; and as I could not do justice to it by reporting the whole, I shall abode in some continent on the face of the moon."

I am happy to say that Mrs. Dr. Porter, who was reported to be very sick, has never realized; he never found himself now recovered, and is as smiling and President of the Deaf-Mute Republic, nor even the elected representative of the "Silent State" in Congress. I think most people -will agree that it would be unwise for deaf-mutes thus to be separated from the rest of mankind-to be located by themselves in any country, or even town, apart from those who posses all their faculties. They are far better associated with, and under the protection of, those who are not laboring under the great deprivation from which they suffer.
